By BRUCE CATTON

MORE and more it becomes clear that no matter what direction the great NRA program is taking it can hardly be regarded as more than a tentative first step.

11 Criminals Who Broke From La. Pen Still at Large

Believed Scattered After Riot in Which Three Were Killed

POSSE IS ELUDED

Half-Dozen Are Wounded, Including Prison Superintendent

ANGOLA, La.—(AP)—Eleven desperate convicts, heavily armed, who escaped from the state penitentiary during a baseball game Sunday afternoon followed by a riot in which two guards and a convict were killed and a half-dozen others wounded, Monday were believed to have scattered into central Louisiana and nearby Mississippi after eluding a posse which combed cane breaks near the prison property.

Moody Riot
ANGOLA PENAL FARM, La.—(AP)—A sanguinary riot by 12 long-term convicts during a prison baseball game at the state penitentiary Sunday afternoon resulted in the deaths of two guards and a convict and the escape of 11 of the desperadoes in a visitor's automobile. A half-dozen persons were wounded as the prisoners opened fire on the baseball crowd to cover their retreat.

One of the original 12 rioters was shot and killed as the heavily loaded machine sped through the main gate of the penitentiary with its occupants sending volleys of rifle and shotgun fire at pursuers.

Arnold Davis, trusty guard, and J. W. Fletcher, paid guard, were slain in the prison yard in a vain defense of the prison armory, looted of guns and ammunition by the rioting prisoners. The body of the convict slain in the dash through the gate was found later in the automobile used in the escape and abandoned on the edge of the 25,000-acre penal farm. The man was identified as William Stone, 28, of Dallas, Texas, serving 10 to 12 years for forgery and robbery in Claiborne parish.

Lightning Bolt Hits Emmet Man

Knocks Shoe From Foot of H. F. Hickey Sunday Afternoon

During a severe rain and electrical storm Sunday afternoon H. F. Hickey, of Emmet, had a narrow escape from death when struck by lightning, knocking a shoe from his foot.

As a proof of his story Mr. Hickey brought the torn shoe to Hope Monday. He was not injured, other than a slight burn on the left foot.

The same bolt of lightning struck his home, tearing away the chimney, jarring pictures from the wall and leaving a chicken dead near the house. His wife, mother, and three children were in the house at the time, but none were hurt.

Three Killed When Stolen Plane Crashes

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal.—(AP)—Three men plunged 500 feet to death Sunday in an airplane piloted by one of them who took off suddenly while the airport manager, who was to have been the pilot, was getting his helmet and goggles.

The dead were Robert Alsitt, 27, of San Bernardino, who piloted the ship, and his two companions who were only tentatively identified. They were believed to be from Burbank and their last names were believed to be Supercite and Kelly.

Guinn Cook, manager of the airport, said Alsitt came to the airport with the men and asked him to take them for a ride. Cook consented and Alsitt went over to warm up the motor of a ship. While Cook was getting goggles and a helmet, he heard the roar of the motor and ran out to see Alsitt take off.

If it fails, the second step will undoubtedly be productive of even more fundamental and far-reaching changes than those which have already taken place. We cannot cancel a year's ending and sit back to wait for something to turn up. We are committed to a course of drastic action; if the first act flops, we can only make the second one a double dose.

But we do not believe that the step will fail. And it is in looking ahead to the course we must follow if and when this program has succeeded that we shall have to call on all the brain-power that the country possesses.

The NRA program is admittedly an emergency measure. It is an effort to surmount a crisis; as such, it has to meet the problems of the immediate present and let certain long-range objectives wait.

Taken altogether, it is a magnificent thing. But it does leave untouched the fundamental issue of the modern world—the queer, illogical way in which the tremendous increase in mankind's productive capacity has been accompanied by rising unemployment and poverty.

For the present we are trying to meet that problem by imposing sharp checks on production. We are spending vast sums to keep down our production of such basic commodities as wheat, pork and cotton. We are putting oil production under a curb; we are fixing things so that the great manufacturers may keep from making more goods than they can sell.

For the period of the emergency, such steps are good. Sooner or later, however, we must find a better way of meeting the problem.

It is physically possible now for the world to produce at such a rate that every mortal can have all that he needs of everything. Somehow, once a fair measure of prosperity has been restored, we must find out how to do that. We shall have to start thinking about increasing production instead of checking it—our fields, our mines, our factories and our wells must bring forth more instead of less.

That is the direction toward which the next step after the NRA program must carry us.

There probably is no issue in American politics more confusing than that of states' rights.

A sample of the confusion is to be had in the activities of the American Bar Association meeting at Grand Rapids, Mich.

Assistant U. S. Attorney General Pat Malloy told the assembled lawyers that police powers must be centralized in the federal government if the war on racketeers is to succeed. He urged that county prosecutors, sheriffs and state police be sworn in as federal deputies so that the war on crime could be pushed forward in a unified manner.

And the same convention which applauded this speech approved an executive committee report opposing the federal child labor amendment on the ground that the problem should be left to the states.

A truly consistent attitude on states' rights is pretty rare.

The existence of the ordinary man's heart of a soft spot for any living creature which is in a bad jam was never better demonstrated than in the elaborate efforts which were made to rescue that venturesome deer which got itself isolated in a mountain ledge at Watkins Glen, N. Y.

Ordinarily sportsmen head for the woods to shoot deer. They spend lots of money on attempt, take a great deal of trouble, walk their legs off—and, occasionally, shoot one another by mistake.

But one lone deer, scrambling along a mountainside and getting itself hung up high and dry at the edge of a cliff, can cause men to make arduous and expensive attempts to rescue it—just because it is so utterly helpless.

Running through the woods, that same deer would get shot by the first armed man that came along. Stranded on a mountain, it becomes the object of genuine sympathy.

The silence in parts of the Rocky Mountains is so great that the flapping of partridge wings can be heard for several miles.

Balloonists Are Found in Ontario; Tell of Hardships

Orman and Trotter, Missing for More Than a Week, Reported Safe

DANCED WITH GLEE

Cut Telephone Lines to Let Outside World Know of Their Plight

SUDBURY, Ontario.—(AP)—Ward T. Van Orman, and Frank A. Trotter, American balloonists who participated in the James Bennet cup race from Chicago, and who have been missing for more than a week, were found Monday between Sudbury and Abitibi canyon in northern Ontario.

They were ill from hardships which they were forced to undergo in the busy, hilly country.

To let the outside world know of their plight, the two men cut down telephone poles, knowing that repairmen would have to be sent to fix the damage.

Linemen who found the two missing balloonists said they danced with glee and kissed them because they were so glad to see human beings again.

Pair Believed Safe

CHICAGO.—(AP)—While the search went on by land, water and air for Ward T. Van Orman and Frank Trotter, missing contestants in the twenty-first annual international James Gordon Bennett balloon races, officials here expressed confidence that the pair are safe.

Cliff Henderson, director of the race in which six balloons took off September 2, said that the Goodyear IX, occupied by the two, had the best equipment of any of the entrants to cope with the danger of forced descent either on land or water.

"Van Orman took along a rubber life raft that would enable him and Trotter to make shore if they were forced down on water," Henderson said. "And if they dropped in some uninhabited region, they have supplies enough for a month. Frankly, I believe they will be found alive and well."

Meanwhile the giant navy dirigible Macon, intending to join the search of the northeastern part of the United States, was grounded because of high winds.

Guards Are Upheld Bailey Treatment

Federal Judge Refuses to Interfere in Prison Matter

OKLAHOMA CITY.—(AP)—Federal Judge Edgar S. Vaughn refused to interfere with the manner in which federal and county authorities are holding Harvey Bailey, southwestern desperado, as he awaits trial for the Charles F. Urschel kidnapping.

Bailey, through his attorneys, alleged cruel treatment in his county jail cell. He asserted he was chained, hand and foot, with steel bars separating his legs and making it impossible for him to stand erect and difficult for him to eat.

"I hear that Mr. Bailey got a gun and broke jail last Monday," Judge Vaughn commented. "I regard Mr. Bailey as a very dangerous man. I don't think he would hesitate a minute to murder a man to obtain his objective. Even if he doesn't get to take all the physical exercise he would like, the court is giving him a speedy trial."

Trial is set for September 18.

Judge Vaughn said he believed the court was without control over the manner in which a prisoner is held. He added he was inclined to believe Bailey "is secure."

Bailey escaped from jail at Dallas, Texas, last Monday, was recaptured at Ardmore and brought here.

Judge Vaughn refused counsel for Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Shannon and Armon Shannon, also held for the Urschel kidnapping, a separate trial.

Champion Melon On Display Here

183-Pounder, Crown Near Atlanta, Tex., Purchased by C. S. Lowthorp

What is believed to be the world's largest watermelon is now on display at E. M. McWilliams seed store, East Second street.

It was brought here Saturday by E. O. Kennedy who raised it on his farm near Atlanta, Texas, about 35 miles southwest of Texarkana.

The melon weighs 183 pounds. It is a Triumph variety. Kennedy said he used both commercial and barnyard fertilizer in growing the melon.

The jumbo was bought by C. S. Lowthorp & Co., local produce and truck shippers. The price was not disclosed. The melon will be on display for the next few days. Mr. Lowthorp has not decided definitely what he would do with the melon.

10 Deaths Caused From Flood Waters

Two Families Wiped Out in South Dakota—Others Are Missing

PORT THOMPSON, S. D.—(AP)—A heavy foot wall of water, some 100 feet high, came down a creek by a cloudburst, swept eight persons to death Sunday after ripping apart a small farmhouse in which they were sleeping.

Two families were wiped out as the surging torrent, resulting from a 10-inch rainfall Saturday night, smashed the three-room house in Soldier creek without warning at 3 a. m. Five bodies have been recovered.

Two Others Drown

DENVER, Colo.—(AP)—Two persons drowned, at least three were missing and damage estimated in the hundred thousands of dollars was caused by a series of floods that deluged Denver and suburbs Sunday.

The known dead: Mrs. Elizabeth James, 66-year-old farm woman, and her nine-year-old grandson, Benny James.

Missing was a farmer living south of Littleton, Colo., and two boys who were reported to have driven their motor car into flood-swollen Platte river north of Denver.

A huge black cloud which drifted over the Denver area Saturday deluged the entire Platte river watershed south and east of here with one of the heaviest rain storms in years.

Within four hours after the storm started the flood waters struck almost simultaneously at Denver, Littleton, Englewood, Wolby and Bear Creek canyon, an area roughly about 50 miles long and 20 miles wide. The streams that flooded were Cherry, Bear, Clear, Sand and Dry creeks. Their combined torrents sent the Platte river out of its banks from Littleton to Welby.

ST. LOUIS.—(AP)—Sleeping sickness continued its deadly progress Sunday, taking seven victims in a wide area about St. Louis, and sending the death list to 115.

The epidemic has gone on relentlessly despite encouraging developments in the scientific battle against its ravages.

Eight Bandits Escape After $100,000 Robbery

ST. PAUL.—(AP)—Eight masked robbers held up two railway express company employees at the door of their office early Monday morning, escaping with two large cash boxes which police said contained between $60,000 and $100,000. The loot included cash, checks and non negotiable vouchers.

Cotton Program Is Ready for 1934

Federal Bureau Plans to Limit Production to 25 Million Bales

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—A cotton reduction program intended to limit the 1934 crop to 25,000,000 acres is planned by the farm adjustment administration with the approval of President Roosevelt.

This would make next year's acreage 5,000,000 less than this year's and 15,000,000 under the normal planting.

Broad outlines of the plan were announced by Secretary Wallace at his press conference, but details will not be made public until early this week.

The plan contemplates a combination of rental payments to farmers and a form of the domestic allotment program.

It was understood the allotment feature would include a virtual guarantee of parity price on approximately half the total crop, the amount to be arrived at on the basis of domestic consumption.

Henry Morgenthau, Jr., governor of the farm credit administration, announced that all farmers who have pledged cotton as collateral for seed and crop production loans prior to this year's crop will be notified to sell their collateral cotton at once in liquidation of the loans that are past due.

For every bale of cotton so sold, a bal of long futures will be bought, as authorized by the agricultural adjustment act. The long futures contracts will provide the secretary of agriculture with cotton for carrying out the acreage reduction program, but the transaction will result in no net sales or purchases, Morgenthau said.

"The plan," he explained, "is that the collateral cotton, other than that which is security for loans for 1933 production, will be sold by November 1, thereby saving the farm credit administration hundreds of thousands of dollars in carrying charges over what would be incurred if the sale of this cotton and the liquidation of these overdue loans were delayed."

Sale of the cotton also will place approximately $36,000,000 in a revolving fund for creating 12 production credit corporations, one to be located in each federal land bank district. Approximately 588,000 bales of cotton are involved.

Two Murder Cases Goes Before Jurors

Quick Indictment Expected in Death of Former Hope Girl and Husband

COLUMBUS, Miss.—The Lowndes county grand jury, convening here Monday, is expected to receive among the first cases evidence against Jesse Patterson, negro, who officers said confessed the bizarre double killing 10 weeks ago of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh D. Crosby.

Patterson will be brought to Columbus from the unannounced jail in which he has been held since his arrest in Birmingham the middle of July by local and Birmingham officers.

It will be the first murder case of importance to be called in court here in years.

The bodies of Crosby and his wife were found in a crude grave in a cotton patch near their farmhouse, six miles north of Columbus, on July 14, about three weeks after the negro disappeared.

In his confession Patterson is alleged to have said he killed Crosby with an ax in the barnyard behind the house and then entered the house and killed Mrs. Crosby with the same instrument.

The two were members of prominent families. Crosby's father is director of extension courses at the University of Alabama, and the search for the bodies was instituted by relatives from Tuscaloosa who became alarmed when they failed to receive letters from the pair.

Formerly of Hope

The Crosby murder case at Columbus, Miss., which aroused a south-wide search for the negro slayer of a young married couple, has a local angle, as the murdered bride was a former Hope girl, and a student in Hope High School.

The girl, Mrs. Hugh Crosby, was the former Miss Irona Hayes, daughter of Dr. Charles Hayes, who for several years practiced in Hope as an eye, ear and nose specialist.

Dr. Hayes had offices in the First National bank building here from February 1, 1925, to August 6, 1928. Mrs. Crosby—Miss Irona Hayes—was a schoolmate of many Hope students during those years.

Miss Hayes, 23, a graduate of the University of Alabama, had married Hugh Crosby, 21, son of Prof. W. C. Crosby, head of the Extension Service of the University of Alabama. They resided on a farm near Columbus, Miss.

Quartet Arrested at Springfield, Mo. in W. P. Ford Case

Pastor and Wife Beaten and Shot to Death Early Monday

NO MOTIVE GIVEN

16-Year-Old Son Missing With Family Automobile in West Virginia

NEWPORT, Ark.—(AP)—Four persons sought in connection with the slaying of W. P. Ford, 50, Sulphur Springs merchant who was found in a dying condition under a railroad trestle here early Friday morning, have been arrested at Springfield, Mo., Sheriff Albright was advised Monday.

The quartet arrested late Sunday night gave their names as Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hicks, 30 and 23 years old respectively, Otis Crocker, 21, and Edna Anderson, 35.

Ford was beaten fatally and his companion, Will Parish, was also beaten and robbed by two men and two women who were driving them from Batesville to Newport.

Companion Held

NEWPORT.—Although he still is in jail here in default of a $500 bond, no charge has been placed against Will Parish, aged about 40, of Batesville, but he is held as a material witness in the assault upon W. P. Ford, 68, of Batesville who was brutally attacked and fatally injured here early Friday.

Ford was discovered dying under a railroad trestle about a half mile below Newport with his skull fractured. Ford was able to make statements to officers but could not name his assailants.

Names Alleged Assailants

Paris was arrested at Batesville and brought to Newport. He gave Sheriff Albright the names of the two men and two women who he declared assaulted Ford.

According to Parish, he and Ford were drinking Thursday afternoon and when invited at Batesville to take a ride with the quartet, willingly entered the car.

They drove to Newport and stopped near the trestle. There the two men were attacked and their money, amounting to about $100, taken from them.

Ford was knocked to the ground, and when he did not arise, the men and women left, taking Parish with them, telling him they were going to throw him into the river, Parish says.

At Olyphant, about eight miles south of Newport on Highway No. 61, Parish was thrown from the car, and it is presumed that the others went on to Batesville where they hurriedly gathered some effects and left town.

RIPLEY, West Virginia.—(AP)—Beaton and shot to death, the bodies of the Rev. A. M. Eddy and his wife were found at the home of Grace Fox early Monday morning.

The Rev. Eddy, pastor of Mt. Hope Church of God, was shot while sleeping. Indications pointed toward the theory that his wife was awakened by shots, fled from the house but was pursued and beaten over the head.

A son, Ralph, 16, who borrowed the gun used in the slayings from a neighbor a week ago, was missing Monday with the family car.

No motive for the crime was apparent.

Labor Federation Convenes Monday

Three-Day Meeting to Be Held at Fort Smith This Week

FORT SMITH.—(AP)—Labor organization leaders of Arkansas gathered here Monday for the 21th convention of the State Federation of Labor. The meeting will continue through Wednesday.

Among the subjects which will be discussed are methods of co-operation with the NRA administration. Congressman Ben Cravens of the Fourth Arkansas district will be the principal speaker at the opening program.

Elmer Grant, Little Rock, state president, and H. M. Thackeray, state secretary-treasurer, arrived Sunday accompanied by a delegation from Little Rock.

The biennial election of officers will be held Wednesday.

A financing and taxation system which would obviate such situations as exist in Chicago was demanded. Complete separation of school and political control was insisted upon. The report asked adult education; and that workers forced from one industry be rehabilitated for another through public education.

"The federal government must come to the aid of the public schools. It can collect taxes. It can borrow money. It can make grants in aid or loans to the states.

"If prosperity were to return tomorrow, the schools in some states would still be in desperate condition at least until 1935. For the intervening period their only hope is in grants from the federal government."

Fifty-three per cent of all accidents are injuries to the arm and hand.

YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Barton

Too often parents have the idea that children may be kept happy by excitement.

"Excitement" is just what it says—exciting or stimulating the senses. The nerves of sight, taste, hearing, touch or smell, by the way, are not the only channels by which we get pleasure—far from it.

Our emotional fibres are as complicated as the electrical circuits of a robot. As we have a thousand kinds of "feelings" we respond to ten thousand different stimuli.

To keep ourselves constantly stimulated gives pleasure, of course—we like to taste candy, for instance, rather than bread. Or we would rather hear music than the soft splash of a hearth.

To see a movie has much more punch than to look at a haystack. To dance is more exciting to our nerves of rhythm than to walk down the street to buy groceries.

We could go on, but make your own comparisons.

With children we are really making a mistake if we think we have to fill up their nerves constantly just to keep them happy. Sensation we do provide, certainly, for the minute, but sensation and contentment contain few of the same elements.

A child in a farm can be as contented and really happy as the child in a city who gets a hundred sensations a day by just turning his head. He doesn't even have to keep his ears or eyes open. A thousand noises are all about him, a thousand sights to see.

The child in a modest home can be, and often is, more sincerely content than the rich child whose mistaken parents load up his day with new toys, clothes, candy, rides, and spending money.

Contentment vs. Excitement

There is a very clear reason. It is this: Nerves do not long respond to the same stimulus, but nerves once started do demand new and more stimulation. Excitement wears off, but the hunger for it lasts. In time even that wears away, and we find hundreds of young folk half dead with boredom. The symptoms of this are broken tempers, pouting faces, and a decided tendency toward disobedience.

Disobedience is often just one more way to find a thrill, to the fed-up child.

There is another point to be made. Young nerves cannot stand as much excitement as those of the matured body, just as the fat of a young animal won't stand too much rubbing, while the pelt of the parent will wear for years.

We don't want to close in on the children too much. They need to have fun and change is demanded. They need a certain number of playthings, places to go and things to do. But we will grow our sense if we leave some of the good things until they grow up. Save something for future years. They need not live 30 years in fifteen.

Contentment is a healthy state of mind—excitement is not, if it is a habit. Let us all stop and think where we stand and call a halt if the children are getting too much.

If you go to college in a cold climate you'll need cleansing cream more than does the co-ed who goes to a southern university.

It's a good plan to take along a jar of tissue cream, too. And particularly, if you have fairly dry skin.

You'll probably do your own manicuring. In addition to a good file, see that your manicure kit includes orange sticks, absorbent cotton, cuticle remover and a colorless polish. Wise co-eds simply don't go in for garish, gaudy nail polish.

Get a very large bottle of hand lotion and use it after each washing of your hands. Whether you are holding a book, dancing at a prom or playing tennis, your hands should be white and smooth.

If the pores have a tendency to be large, by all means pack a small jar of pore paste and use it two or three times a week.

Next: More suggestions for co-eds.

There are a few creams and lotions which the college girl will find she can't do without.

You may use only soap and water for cleansing. And, for the most part, that is a good idea. But there are occasions when you'll want to use cleansing cream instead. For instance, after sitting in the wind, watching a football game, you'll find cleansing

"Pilgrimage" Has Opening Tuesday

Claudette Colbert in 'Torch Singer' Closes Wednesday Night

The widely-heralded "Pilgrimage," new romantic drama has its premiere at the Seeger Tuesday.

Dealing with the innermost emotions of a mother who cannot see her son taken from her by the women he loves, the story has been reported as one of the most powerful of recent screen dramas. It details the reactions of a devoted woman to the romance of her own son, and the romance of two strangers who lives on the verge of ruin through just such selfishness as she herself showed. She sees her son to his death. But she sees her error in the error of another woman who is about to do the same pitiful service for her own son.

The locale of the film goes from the backwoods community in Arkansas to the cosmopolitan atmosphere of New York and Paris. The picture reveals some of the most elaborate settings ever achieved for a motion picture. The cast is a large one, involving the appearance of hundreds of extra players.

The featured roles are portrayed by Henrietta Crossman, veteran of the stage and screen; Heather Angel, newcomer to American films; Norman Foster and Marian Nixon. Some of filmdom's best-known players are cast in important roles. Among these are Lucille La Verne, Charley Grapewin, Robert Warwick, Louise Carter and Betty Blythe.

Claudette Colbert in "Torch Singer" closes Monday night.

Sister MARY'S KITCHEN

By SISTER MARY

NA Service Writer

With the potato crop "short" this year, many housewives are alert for nourishing potato substitutes. Just at this season is a good time to use substitutes, too, because they combine admirably with the late vegetables and contribute pleasing variety to vegetable menus.

However, when we plan to substitute rice or one of the pastefoods for potatoes, certain fundamental differences should be taken into consideration.

Properly cooked potatoes furnish minerals which are lacking in the cereal food, but at this season of the year when vegetables are so abundant, this deficiency can be taken care of easily and cheaply.

Increasing the Calories

The person who is watching her calories should remember that macaroni or noodles served in a rich sauce leads to the addition of many calories that simply cooked and served potatoes would not provide.

When the meat course is light a zesty dish of macaroni, spaghetti, rice or noodles does much to perk up the dinner. The noodle ring with its eggs and milk, adds many protein calories to the menu. Macaroni in a tomato and cheese sauce does its share toward increasing the calories.

Plain boiled rice is suitable to serve with a heavier meat course. Unless rice is cooked in milk or richly dressed with butter, the fourth cup is required to furnish 100 calories.

Noodle ring is sure to please when filled with any creamed fish meat or full flavored vegetable. It is splendid for an autumn luncheon.

Noodle Ring

Two cups noodles, 1 tablespoon butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 cup milk, 1/2 cup grated cheese, 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/8 teaspoon pepper, 2 eggs.

Cook noodles in boiling salted water for ten minutes. Drain. Melt butter, stir in flour and slowly add milk, stirring constantly. Season with salt, pepper and Worcestershire sauce. Add cheese, cook until melted. Remove from fire and add noodles and well beaten yolks of eggs. Fold in whites of eggs beaten until stiff and dry. Turn into a well buttered mold and bake 45 minutes in a moderate oven. Unmold and serve with any preferred creamed mixture.

No ideal and you're lost;
Your heart must ever cherish
Some faith in any cost;

Some hope, some dream to cling to;
Some rainbow in the sky,
Some melody to sing to,
Some service that is high.

Then hold in mind thy treasure,
See that it bears the stamp
And seal of God's good pleasure,
To be to thee a lamp.

August Sales for Chevrolet High

Report Shows 204 % Increase Over Same Month Year Ago

With an increase in production of cars and trucks in August of this year, which more than trebled August 1932, W. S. Knudsen, president and general manager of the Chevrolet Motor Company, announced that it had passed the half millionth car in the year's output.

August production of 73,433 units was 204 per cent over the same month a year ago. It brought production for eight months to 511,433 units, as compared with 234,000 for the full twelve months of 1932.

When compared with 1930 and 1931, August, 1933, shows large increases, approximately 22,000 over the former and nearly 20,000 over the latter. The sizeable increases over those two years and the exceptionally large margin over August of last year show clearly and emphatically how business has turned for the better, Mr. Knudsen said.

The month just passed ranks fifth in point of production in August history. It was exceeded only by August of 1926, 1927, 1928 and 1929.

General Upward Trend Continues

Retail Sales Go Forward in Spite of Prices—Blue Eagle Helps

NEW YORK.—(P)—Despite an occasional thoughtful hesitation business confidently continues to take all difficulties in its stride as it approaches the fall season.

The first week following the Labor Day holiday, mythical dividing line between the tradition quiescence of summer and expected autumnal advance—found general trade moving forward satisfactorily.

One of the most significant developments last week, in the opinion of experienced business observers, was the slowing down in the recession of some of the leading industries which had characterized operations last month.

In the meantime, with the blue eagle winging its way unrelentingly across the country, the trend of retail sales was proceeded upward obviously unimpaired by the general lifting of price levels, which have now extended to all departments, the new army of wage earners is using its new buying power to cover deferred necessities.

Electric power output, for the week of September 2, was 11.8 per cent ahead of a year ago, as against the 13.5 per cent advance scored by the previous week. Automobile production last week again showed a decline from the preceding period, reported

Cram. O'Output was estimated at 40,367 units, a decrease of 3446, but still more than double the amount of the corresponding week of 1932.

Railroad traffic for the week ended September 2, amounted to 662,652 cars, 54 per cent ahead of the previous week and 18.7 per cent over the like 1932 period. The weekly gain was viewed as better than seasonal and with the aid of public works, August construction spurred 28 per cent ahead of July. Stock market values as of September 1 were 3.9 billion dollars above August 1.

Number 1 in a campaign of TRUTH as 300,000 Plymouth owners KNOW it!

"Because it
MADE GOOD
the trend is to Plymouth!"

FOR TWENTY YEARS most of the low price cars were produced by two big manufacturers. Again and again other big companies entered that field and after six or eight months—gave up.

People became superstitious about it. There spread a romantic childish idea of a mass production magic—some great, closely guarded secret... Plymouth broke the spell, two years ago. Proved that a third manufacturer with the right product could compete in the low price car field. That Plymouth car reflected the very latest ideas in car design.

The public welcomed the Plymouth heartily. It was a low volume year for the automobile industry but a record-breaking year for Plymouth.

Would Plymouth owners repeat? They did. The following year was a continuation of the triumph. Plymouth style, Plymouth engineering—Plymouth Value—had MADE GOOD! The swing away from the other low price cars, to Plymouth, is getting bigger every day.

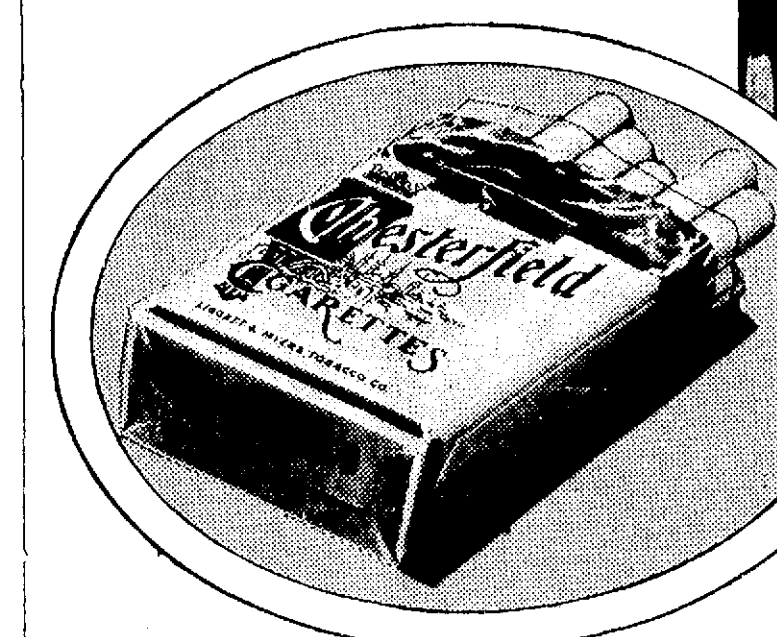

Test the TRUTH of these Assertions
Find out what it is that makes people desert their old favorites and change to Plymouth. That's what they are doing. They are finding more value—more modern conveniences, more automobile pleasure! A Plymouth demonstration will show you. Come in today.

There is a way to give your shoulders those smart extra inches. Just add a capelet with Ascot tie to a slightly fitted coat of tweed and achieve all the chic you desire.

WOOL crepe, linen, broadcloth, or flannel can also serve for this serviceable coat style, worn with or without the detachable cape. This design, easily made, is in five sizes: 11, 13, 15, 17, 19, with corresponding bust measurements of 29, 31, 33, 35 and 37. Size 13 requires 3 1/2 yards of 54-inch material with the cape, or 2 1/2 yards without the cape. To line the coat and cape requires 4 1/4 yards of 35-inch material; 3 1/2 yards for the coat and 1/4 yard for the cape.

To secure a pattern and simple sewing chart of this model, tear out this sketch and mail it to Julia Boyd, 103 Park Avenue, New York, N. Y., together with 15 cents in coin. Be sure to enclose, on a separate sheet of paper, your name, full address, your size, the number of this pattern (No. 7697x), and mention the name of this newspaper.

"Striking" Medal for Huey's Socker

Yessir, you'll have to admit this medal's "striking." It was struck to commemorate the washroom gladiator who struck Senator Huey Long in the memorable Battle of Long Island. On the face of the medal is an unflattering piscatorial caricature of the "Kingfish" receiving a poke from a fist which emerges from a wash-bowl. The Latin inscription reads: "By public acclaim for a deed accomplished in private."

The King's in Again!

Leaping Lena Levy rushes into print again with the astonishing announcement that her protegee and brother, King Levinsky, will slug with ex-Champion Jack Sharkey when the two meet at Comiskey Park, Chicago, Sept. 15.

"My boy is a knockout puncher," the eccentric ex-fish peddler's manager and cook related the other day. "And he's hitting harder every day." Sure he'll slug with Sharkey. He'll slug with Sharkey whether Sharkey wants to slug or not, because the Kingfish is a sluggard at whatever he tries, including an occasional roundhouse attack upon the Queen's English.

A $25,000 Smack

And there is just a chance that Sharkey, stepped out to Chicago and taking off his coat for a guarantee of $25,000 (not a bad pile of NRA shucks, my friend) may wake up again, as he did after the Carners fight, asking his seconds who threw that brick at him.

In that event the Kingfish would

Measures for controlling the malady which has already claimed a number of lives were discussed.

the effect that Sharkey hadn't realized how far back he had gone and had trained on buffoonery and ice cream for the Carners thing.

He is aiming to make a piece of change here and there this winter, as wh isn't, and has gone back to work to see how good he is with the idea of five fights in mind. If he can't pass the Kingfish, and there is every reason to believe he can't if he comes in all roly-poly as he appeared against Carners, his four fights after the King gets through with him will retail at 5 cents apiece.

Out of the Dark
Sharkey has the same thing to watch out for against Levinsky that he failed to see coming from Carners—a wild punch out of nowhere, with plenty of power behind it.

Then you would have the picture of a former fish peddler gunning for the heavyweight title seriously. Well, why not—didn't an old fish market man run for president.

Scanning New Books

By BRUCE CATTON

The dyed-in-the-wool gambler is not just a man who likes to bet. He is an unscrupulous and heedless chap who has managed somehow to become an adult without ever acquiring an adult viewpoint, and between himself and the settled citizens of the world there is a chasm that cannot ever be bridged.

These profound meditations arise from a reading of W. R. Burnett's excellent new novel, "Dark Hazard."

"Dark Hazard" tells about Jim Turner, who follows the ponies. Jim is the most confirmed of gamblers. He is fast one day and flat broke the next, and whatever else life may be for him it is never dull.

Jim presently enters a straitlaced Ohio town and marries one Margaret, a girl who is everything that he is not. She longs for respectability and he does not; she wants a settled home and he wants to wander; she wants a steady income, even if it is small, and he wants the gambler's succession of rich windfalls and long dry spells.

Naturally enough, they don't make a go of it. They can't; one or the other has to be crushed out of shape. Marg tames Jim into respectability for a while, then he leads her off to the tracks; she drags him back to small town uprightness, and at last he breaks loose again, wanders off irresponsibly—and their marriage is over.

Mr. Burnett makes a very good story out of it all. He has the knack of making his rough-edged characters real enough to sock you on the jaw. Jim Turner is one of his best; "Dark Hazard" is perhaps his best book.

Printed by Harpers at $2.50, it is the September choice of the Book of the Month Club.

"Proud and glad to do our part"

WITH President Roosevelt's acceptance of the NRA Automobile Code, Chevrolet, the world's largest builder of motor cars, officially begins operations in accordance with the administration's recovery program.

Although the official code was signed only a few days ago, it will be of interest to Chevrolet's many friends to learn that the Chevrolet Motor Company started to carry out the spirit of today's recovery program over three years ago!

At that time, we put into operation a "share-the-work" plan, whereby our workmen cooperated in spreading the work to give more men jobs. By means of this plan, as well as by regulating hours of work per week to meet retail demand, and by building up parts stocks in lean seasons, it was possible to carry 33,000 men on our payroll through the depression. For eleven months of each year since 1929, we have kept our employment within 10 per cent of this average. We are justly proud of that record. We are also proud to say that Chevrolet workmen did not, at any time during the depression, become a burden on public welfare departments.

On August 1st of this year, Chevrolet announced a blanket wage increase as well as the adoption of a 7½-hour, 5-day week and the employment of 12,000 additional men. This wage increase was the second in the last 4 months, Chevrolet having been among the first to put a blanket wage increase into effect.

We feel that the President's recovery program deserves the whole-hearted support of every citizen and manufacturer in America. It is a bold, swift, courageous plan to start the ball rolling toward economic recovery. Its sincerity is unquestioned. Its objectives are admirable. And the direct, forceful steps the President and his associates are taking to make it a success, should stir the pride and admiration of every American.

We are proud and glad to do our part. And we are deeply grateful to the American people for the patronage that has enabled us to anticipate the present recovery program and to play our part today. After all, the immense number of men employed by Chevrolet is a direct result of the continued preference America has shown for Chevrolet.
